Chorley Branch Education Group Talk Handout Further Steps Quarter Sessions

Quarter Sessions

- Justices of the Peace were required by law to meet four times a year to deal with a wide variety of cases
- They could try local criminal cases, not civil cases, treason or forgery
- These latter would be dealt with by the Assize judges
- Quarter Sessions originated in a law enacted in 1326 and met in the first weeks after the feasts of St Michael, the Epiphany, Easter and the translation of St Thomas the Martyr
- In 1830 these dates became the first week after 11th October, 28th December, 31st March and 24th June

Where and what

- Most Quarter Sessions records are found at local record offices and mainly date from the 18th and early 19th centuries
- Beside criminal cases they also dealt with local licences and bonds

I've got a little list.....

- Theft
- Assault
- Riot
- Poaching
- Murder
 - Don't forget – in the 18th century these charges could result in the death sentence or transportation
